SATURDAY, AUGUST 3, 1901.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"Every hour spent in the conscientious mastery of the principles of life and is a saving of a hundred hours later on."

Captain Joe Fowler is one citizen who does not seem to be worried over the water question.

With the probability of two chairmen and two sets of officers at the Bardwell senatorial convention next Saturday, there ought to be enough nominations to go around.

The city council meeting ought to be a lively one, with such momentous questions to settle as where the water supply comes from, and whether we can have prize fights or not.

Congressman Wheeler says he has no interest in such trivial things as a middle in the county committee. Congressman Wheeler now has a fight on his hands that will take up all his spare time for several months to come.

The Republican county convention on August 14 will be attended by a large crowd. The list of probable candidates insures a good ticket and it is expected that there will be great enthusiasm this year. With the Democrats divided, and the Populists coming out with a ticket of their own, the prospects could not be brighter for Republican success.

Col. Peter Arlund, the "promoter" who started the Paducah iron furnace something over a year ago, now of Louisville, is about to become president of a railroad he has just "promoted." Col. Arlund did not seem to be affected by the collapse of his Paducah enterprise—probably because he was used to such things—and since then he has managed to continue his "promoting" with commendable persistency. His scheme for raising money to build the railroad is quite unique, and could emanate only from the brain of such an able financier as Col. Arlund. It is to take out life insurance policies on three men for $1,000,000 each, and assign them to the men who loan the money. Naturally there are plenty of men in the country who are willing to loan Col. Arlund any amount of money on such splendid security. It is hoped Col. Arlund will run his railroad longer than he did his iron furnace.

The destructive conflagration at the Illinois Central shops this morning is generally regretted throughout the city, not only because of the disastrous loss and annoying inconvenience to the company, but because as well, of the fact that many good citizens are unexpectedly thrown out of employment indefinitely and in addition lost all the tools with which they earned their daily bread. The shops have been located here for a great many years, and it is the first fire of consequence to invade them. The Illinois Central has done much for Paducah, and has paid out thousands of dollars a year to the people of Paducah, and its present trouble, while probably it will hardly be felt at headquarters is a source of regret everywhere. In the subsequent developments relative to rebuilding, a question that has long been debated in Paducah will be settled, probably for all time to come. This is whether or not the company has any intention of ever locating the shops elsewhere on its system. If it rebuilds the portion destroyed, this will be conclusive evidence that the shops will always remain in Paducah.

The result of the inspection of the water works rotary strainer, through which Paducah receives her water supply, is at least sufficient to create in the minds of the people a doubt as to whether we are getting Ohio or Tennessee river water. It may or may not require the investigation of an expert to determine the question, but the Sun is for pure water, no matter from where it comes. Some of those who made the inspection Thursday state positively that the water comes from the Ohio, and others are equally as positive that it comes from the Tennessee. If Paducah obtains her water from Tennessee river, she is not getting what she is entitled to by contract, but is getting a water reputed to be both muddier and impurer than that from the Ohio. A large portion of the city drains into the Tennessee river, and if we are getting Tennessee river water, we may be getting some of this drainage. The people are entitled to know the facts.

and the question should be settled definitely and for all time to come. The water company can have no objection to this, and it would not have invited the inspection. In view of the statements of some of those who made the inspection some steps should be taken at once to satisfactorily determine the source of water supply, and if it should develop that the water comes from the Tennessee, the proper course may be pursued towards rectifying the mistake, or stopping the imposition.

THE POPULATION OF KENTUCKY

The latest figures from the census report may be of interest to the public. They are as follows:

Of a total population of the state of 2,147,174, to males number 1,090,237, a slight excess over the 1,056,647 females. Of the whites, 1,812,176 are the native born and only 138,763 of these were born of foreign parents.

The colored population of Kentucky consists of 142,073 males and 142,638 females, 54 male Chinese and three females, and 52 Indians and 50 females.

In no counties do the negroes exceed the whites. The counties having the largest negro population are Jefferson, with 21,340 males and 22,486 females; Christian with 8,143 males and 8,455 females, and Fayette with 7,181 males and 8,288 females. Martin has the smallest negro population 15 in all.

The percentage of males in Kentucky is 50.8 per cent; native born 97.7 per cent; foreign born 2.3 per cent. Of the total population 76.7 per cent are white and 13.3 per cent colored.

ELECTED OFFICERS.

ARLUND'S PROJECTED SHELBYVILLE, BLOOMFIELD AND OHIO RAILROAD.

The promoters of the Shelbyville, Bloomfield and Ohio railroad, which is to extend from Madison, Ind., to Gallatin, Tenn., and thence to Nashville, have elected the following officers, says yesterday's Louisville Times.

President—Peter Arlund.
Vice President—Chas. W. Greens.
Secretary and Treasurer—Thomas B. Leonard.

Directors—P. Booker Reed, Chas. A. Parker, Peter Arlund, Chas. W. Greens, F. H. Beaman, George Borgerting and T. B. Leonard.

Mr. Arlund, who is the chief promoter of the proposed line has hit upon a new plan of raising the money to build the line. He proposes to take out life insurance policies on three men for $1,000,000 each. The insurance is to be assigned to the parties loaning the money to build the proposed line.

MRS. BALLARD DEAD.

WIDOW OF THE WELL KNOWN FORMER FEDERAL JUDGE DIES.

Louisville, August 3.—Mrs. Sarah McDowell, widow of the late Judge Bland Ballard, died suddenly yesterday at her residence, 219 West Broadway, of angina pectoris. Mrs. Ballard had been in failing health for three years and on Sunday last became worse, but her condition was not considered serious. Her husband, Judge Bland Ballard, presided over the United States district court of Kentucky for years, and had a national reputation as a jurist. He died about twenty-two years ago. Since that time Mrs. Ballard had lived a quiet life at home going out but little.

Mrs. Ballard left five children, Bland and Austin Ballard, of this city; Mrs. Charles Davidson, of Cincinnati, O., and Miss Fannie and Susie Ballard, of this city. Mr. Ballard is now at Spring Lake, N. J., and Mrs. Davidson is in Canada. Both have been notified of the death but the time of the funeral will not be fixed until it is learned when they will arrive. Mr. William A. McDowell, of this city, is a brother of Mrs. Ballard.

CHAIRMAN POTTER SPEAKS.

Chairman Joe Potter has called a meeting of the Democratic county committee for Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the county court house to select five men to be recommended to the state election board for appointment on the county election board. The Republicans this morning forwarded their list to the state board. The new law requires that the county boards be composed of a Republican, a Democrat, and the sheriff of the county.

$100 REWARD, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreadful disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for full particulars. Address, W. J. JUSTICES IN SHIRT SLEEVES.

Many of the supreme court justices and the justices of special and general sessions, during the recent torrid weather, have been sitting on the bench in their shirt sleeves. This statement may sound a little startling at first, but confidence in the dignity of the bench will be restored when it is known that the flowing silken robes of the justices more or less conceal these sartorial omissions. To the same silken robes are due the divesting of the judicial personages of outer garments. The robes were made for winter wear, and, though they look nice and cool and comfortable, they are far from it. In fact, they weigh several pounds and are of such texture according to some justices, that their weight seems to increase as the thermometer crawls up the tube.

Justice McAdams, who is one of the hardest workers on the supreme court bench, and who feels the heat keenly, has had himself made a special light weight robe for summer wear. He exhibited it with a chuckle a few days ago.

"I would have sweated," said he, "if I hadn't prepared for this hot weather that we have just been having. Even with this I have to take off my coat and vest and tie and even in a hot court room it is far from cool."

The difference between the summer and winter gowns was apparently some pounds. When Justice McAdams takes his seat on the bench, however, no one would imagine from his appearance that he had left off even his coat.

Nearly every one of the special sessions justices last week doffed his coat and vest and put on the robe over his shirt. Justices Holbrook, Hirsdale, and Wyatt were sitting. Judge Newburger, in general sessions during the Kennedy trial, sat with his robe over a negligee shirt, a turn down collar, and a belt, and was one of the coolest looking persons in the court room.

Recorder Goff and Justice Fursman during the extremely hot weather left off their gowns entirely. They held court wearing short sack coats.—Ex.

KIPLING LOST THREE ADMIRERS.

There are three newspaper men in New York that despise Kipling. They admire his works and read everything he writes. Each has a complete set of his works, and each is never tired of poring over their pages. Their dislike for the man came about in this way: They were discussing "The Man Who Was." During the discussion one read the story aloud. When the reading reached this point—"Sweet and to the point," said Little Mildred. What's the use of getting wroth? Let's make this poor devil comfortable." "But that was a matter suddenly and swiftly taken from the loving hands of the White Hussars. The Lieutenant had returned only to go away again three days later, when the wail of the dead march and the tramp of the squadrons told the wondering station, who saw no gap in the mess table, that an officer of the regiment had resigned his new-found commission." "When it reached this point one argued that the man had committed suicide, while another claimed he had died from exhaustion. To settle the matter, they decided to write to the author for an explanation as to which idea he intended to convey.

The letter was written and signed by each. In due time an answer came, and from the day of its receipt has dated their dislike of Kipling.

Across the face of their letter he had written the words: "Wise men know, fools ask questions."—N. Y. Times.

WAS IT SAMPOSON, OR WAS IT SCHLEY?

When the Spanish fleet, with full head sway,

Dashed out of Santiago Bay—

Taking the chance of death or wreck,

Who stood on the Yankee quarterdeck,

Watching his prey with an eagle eye,

Say, was it Sampson or was it Schley?

II.

Who was it with screaming shot, and hissing shell,

Turned Sabbath-morn into an echoing hell—

Steaming into the thickest of the fray,

His good ship leading all the way,

While the war of his guns shook earth and sky—

Say, was it Sampson or was it Schley?

III.

In American hearts who holds first place

Of those who took part in that glorious chase—

In letters of Gold write his name on high,

Shall we write it Sampson or shall we write it Schley?

CONGRESSMAN BERRY OF KENTUCKY.

Observationsat Random

People who are blessed with bad handwriting can feel consolation in the fact that there are many of our greatest men who can hardly read their own writing. An exchange tells this one: John G. Johnson, the noted corporation lawyer of Philadelphia, would make a poor writing-master. Recently, when asked to make a statement regarding one of his cases for a newspaper, he told the reporter that he would write out a statement and send it to the paper in the evening. This he did. When the manuscript arrived the story was waiting for it. The statement which Mr. Johnson had written was of undoubted importance, and was undoubtedly written in choice English, but no man on the staff of the paper could read a word of it. Not one could tell which was the top of the sheet. The reporter who had solicited the statement took the manuscript, got into a cab, hurried to Mr. Johnson's residence and showed him the manuscript.

"None of us can read a word of that," he said. The lawyer laughed and looked at the writing. "Now, look here—" he began, and then he frowned. Then he scratched his head. "Well," he said, "I certainly wrote it, but I'll swear I can't make out a word of it. You go ahead and write as I dictate." And in that way the paper got the story.

The Week in Society.

The Doings of the Smart Set the Past Six Days. Pleasant Events and Personal Mention.

CUPID'S GARDEN.

When the world as yet was young, Cupid made a garden. Where no clouds their shadows hung, Where no frosts could harlequin. These the roses never died, Nor the lilies faded.

Now the world is growing old; Likewise stale and stupid; Caring more for gain and gold Than for Master Cupid; Yet he open throws his place, That in summer weather, Common people for a space May walk through together.

—Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.

DOLE FARE NIENTE.

Society presents some curious phases, for a time here when the mercury was rising higher and higher, and threatening an indefinite expansion. Society was going at a rate sufficient to superinduce nervous prostration; but now, she has stopped and seems to have no inclination to resume the social functions, although the days and nights are pleasantly cool. This week has been dolce far niente, even the usual outdoor pleasure-parties have failed to materialize. The Cotillon club dance called in for last week was not revived for this and at present society is just enjoying being care-free, and playing "come to see."

The girls go down the street in the morning and pay a visit to the soda water fountain. Then in wrappers and with books they rest until late in the evening when a stroll out Broadway is indulged. And how sweet they look in their dainty gowns of pale blue and pink with the fetching rosette in the hair! As a young society man said recently, "I declare, to pass to the shop windows full of pretty summer goods makes me wish to be a girl." What must be his feeling then when he sees how bewitching these same goods look adorning the alluring summer girl? He is too busy, perhaps, admiring her to pay any attention to the dress. The evening stroll generally winds up with a trolley ride to the park and attendance upon the summer theater. This is all thoroughly informal, just a jolly crowd, sometimes with only one or two men to a half dozen or more girls. And this represents the social round of the past week; there is nothing in any way resembling a function to record.

Mrs. Richard Baker opens the coming week with an entertainment, and it is probable that the gayeties will not be allowed to cease so entirely again, as there are others announced, or rumored.

THE ORIGINALS

OF COL. CARVEL

AND VIRGINIA CARVEL.

It may interest many Paducah people to know that over in St. Louis the proto-type of "Colonel Carvel" in Winston Churchill's "Crisis" is said to be the late Colonel Robert Woods, an old-time Southern gentleman, and the father of Mrs. Given Campbell of that city, who is well and charmingly known here. And Mrs. Campbell herself is said to be the original of the fascinating and lovable Virginia Carvel. During the war, Mrs. Campbell, then the brilliant and popular Miss Sue Betty Woods occupied very much the same position in St. Louis society, in her devotion and love for the South, her hatred of the North, that Virginia Carvel did. The love story was not the same, though, for Mr. Campbell was a dashing young southern soldier and not a northern man when she married him.

PARK DANCE.

There was quite a pleasant dance given at La Belle park pavilion on Thursday evening by the Jackson street club. The evening being delightfully cool, the attendance was quite large, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

PARTY ON THE BROOK

WILL THIS EVENING.

There will be a pleasure party on the Brook Hill this evening that will give delight and interest to the younger society set. Miss Rosebud Hobson and Miss Lillie Hobson are the charming hostesses, and Mr. Garrard Barrett and Mr. William Garrard, of Greenwood, Miss., are the guests of honor. Quite a number have been invited and it is safe to prophesy a delightful evening for the happy party.

A MORNING CARD PARTY.

Miss Mary K. Sowell entertained a few friends with an impromptu card party in a most delightful and unusual manner this morning in honor of her guest, Miss Wade, of Murfreesboro, Tenn. The entertainment was given on board the steamer Bettie Owen, and a delightful breakfast was served at the Lynn House at Brookport. Mrs. Minnie Rankin and Miss Laura Hand tied for the prize. Mrs. Rankin won in the cut and presented it to the guest of honor, Miss Wade. Those present were: Mrs. Lillard Sanders, Mrs. Minnie Rankin, Mrs. Wynne Tally, Miss Wade, of Murfreesboro, Miss Laura Hand, Miss Susie Thompson, Miss Mabel Riehe, Miss Cornie Grundy and Miss Jane Rivers.

The colored helpers in the plumbers' trade have made demands on their employers for a raise of 15 cents per day.

At present they are receiving $1.35 per day, working nine hours per day and they now want $1.50 per day with the same hours. So far the employers have not acceded to the helpers' demands and the latter have gone out on a strike. It is thought however that the matter will soon be settled satisfactorily to both sides. All the digging and other jobs of minor importance are done by the helpers and without their aid the plumbers are in sad straits.

The Leather Workers met last evening at 6 o'clock in a called meeting to act on the death of a fellow tradesman, Mr. W. P. Cummins. The funeral will be held tomorrow but the hour has not yet been fixed. The Leather Workers will attend in a body.

Mr. Moses Simon, brother of Mr. Sam Simon, the prominent union man, will arrive in Paducah Monday, from Nashville to visit his brother.

The Retail Clerks will meet Monday in regular session. Several new applications of membership will be considered.

There were three new unions temporarily organized here this week. The Teamsters' union, composed of drivers of all classes of vehicles, was organized with a charter membership of about 90. The charter has been applied for and will arrive next week. The Horse-shoers were organized temporarily with a large charter membership. The Blacksmiths are well organized but horse-shoeing is a different trade and could not be consolidated with the blacksmiths, so a separate union was formed. The charter will arrive next week and the union will be permanently installed.

The Household employees, a union formed by the domestic help was organized with a charter membership of 50. Applications for membership are pouring in fast and it bids fair to have the largest membership of any other union in the city.

The committee on arrangements for the Labor day attractions met this week and selected La Belle park the place for the white and Rowlandtown place for holding the celebration for the colored people. The advertising will be commenced this week probably and no pains spared to make this year the most memorable one in the history of Paducah in union circles.

A PASTOR'S MESSAGE.

To The Sun: Will you kindly give me space for the following message to the people of Broadway Methodist church:

1. The roll of the pastor's Sunday school class now contains nearly thirty names. I should like to meet tomorrow every member who can possibly be present. The subject of the lesson is the story of "Abraham and Lot." Sunday school magazines will be furnished to all who desire them and a new method of preparing and reciting the lesson will be proposed.

2. I should like to see a large attendance of our own people at the morning service tomorrow. There are three months and a half yet before the annual conference—time enough to do all that is required of us if we begin at once and work steadily.

3. The subject of the lecture at prayer service next Wednesday night will be "Tom Bundy's Prayer." The first of a series of character studies from real life. Fraternally G. W. BRIGGS.

Observations taken at 7 a. m. River 4.1 on the gauge, a fall of 0.2 in last 24 hours. Wind northeast, a light breeze. Weather clear and warm. Temperature 84. Fell, Observer.

The fire at the railroad shops early this morning drew a large crowd at both end of the line, as the steamboats kept up such a blowing racket that many were attracted to the river, but the light should have told all that were up where the fire was located. It was a hot one.

The Kenton is due tomorrow from Memphis.

The Memphis and Cincinnati Packet company have suspended business on account of low water. In the days of the old James W. Guff, Andy Baum and other boats of that line they were kept on the go as long as there was a possible chance to navigate, but now the least little provocation they quit and leave shippers and the traveling public to make out the best way they can. One of these fine morning this company will wake up to the realization that "there are others" for some steamboat line will put in that trade and what they will do to the old line will be plenty.

The H. W. Buttrif is on the ways where she will be properly lined up for the low water season. The J. B. Richardson was put in the river yesterday in elegant repair.

There was 4.1 on the gauge this morning and falling.

The Dick Fowler galloped off down the track for Cairo this morning at a double quick pace with fair business.

Wallace Farnsley left yesterday for Atlantic City, where he will sojourn for a while and rest up from his long steady duties in the pilot house.

The Bob Dudley is due tomorrow from Clarksville. She couldn't get through to Nashville.

Captain King Hale with the Tennessee will pull out at 5 this afternoon for Tennessee river. The boat is getting a good trip.

The J. B. Williams on arrival at Cairo received orders to turn back for New Orleans as there is not enough water in the Ohio to let her go through to Louisville.

The Charleston is due tomorrow from Tennessee river.

The City of Clifton from St. Louis is due tomorrow morning for Tennessee river.

Commodore Bob Wise, the well known superintendent of the Memphis and Cincinnati and the Cincinnati and New Orleans line of steamers, have gone to Canada to cool off.

Courier-Journal yesterday says: In the near future the exact days of the annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, which this year will be held in Paducah, Ky., will be announced. It has been decided that the meeting will occur during the month of November. The citizens of Paducah are already making preparations for the meeting, which will no doubt be one of the most important in the association's history, for it will make every effort to have a bill presented to congress for the improvement of the Ohio river. For some months past several prominent speakers, especially in the lower Ohio river district, have been busy making speeches therein bringing before the people of the different cities the advantage the improvement of the river is to them.

The wharfbost owned and used so many years at New Albany by Captain H. J. Reamer, who died Tuesday, was once the famous steamer Atlantic. The hull lies bottom up on the bank at Fountain Ferry park, where the ice in the river landed it some years ago, having swept it away from New Albany and upset it where it now lies. The Atlantic was one of the finest and fastest steamers of her day, and her time, for many years, was never beaten from New Orleans to Red Church.

City of Golconda departed at 12:30 today for Golconda and E'town. She had good business.

The John S. Hopkins from Evansville arrived and departed on return trip today with fair trips.

The Louisville Times of yesterday says: For many years before the war Captain Joe Campton had charge of the wharfbost and was the agent for the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Line company and he was one of the best known and most popular man in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys. He was born in Ireland in 1815 and came to this city when he was a young man. He is living on a farm near St. Mary's back of New Albany is 86 years of age and is still chipper enough to have fun with the boys.

Remember the baseball excursion tomorrow on steamer Victor and barge from here to Golconda and return. Good music and a bountiful supply of refreshments will be served on board.

WAS RELEASED.
MARSHAL COLLINS THOUGHT THERE WAS NOTHING IN IT.

Pain Tolliver, colored, who was arrested yesterday on suspicion of having assaulted Minnie Brewster, the white girl who claimed to have been seized by a negro and dragged into a collar near Second and Jefferson, was released last evening by order of Marshal Collins.

He does not believe the girl's story, and stated this morning that she had disappeared, and he had been unable to find any trace of her since she made the complaint. Tolliver was employed as janitor at Dr. C. E. Whitesides.

NOTHING DOING.
COUNCILMEN DO NOT KNOW WHETHER THERE WILL BE A REPORT OR NOT.

Nothing seems to be known relative to making a report on the water supply at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night. The council went down to make the inspection but none of them seem to know whether there will be any report or not.

"I have found none of them," declared one member this morning, "and I have talked to about all of them, who is willing to sign a report that we get Ohio river water. Therefore I don't know whether any one will insist on a report or not."
